

Voici notre sélection des meilleures productions radio autour du thème du voyage. Le programme de soirée propose des œuvres d'exception, choisies pour la qualité de leur production, leur originalité et leur caractère narratif remarquable. Parler anglais est souvent un pré-requis pour voyager. Cette fois nul besoin de parler, mais le comprendre vous permettra de suivre le fil captivant des événements (la majorité des œuvres sont en anglais).

La soirée est organisée par Éric Provencher et la sélection du programme a été réalisée par Anne-Sophie Carpentier.

Grace of the Sea

David Weinberg

(Below the Ten: Life in South LA, KCRW Los Angeles, Unfictional, États-Unis, 2016)

Extrait de 3'15

Luis Gutierrez Sanchez calls himself "Grace of the Sea" and has been living in a garage in South LA for six years. But now, he has to move. Producer David Weinberg brings us a chronicle of Grace's life as a gay, undocumented immigrant in Los Angeles. It's a story about love, violence and a magic potato.

Territoriana: Globe

Jack Kerr

(Radiotonic, ABC, Australie, 2016) 4'11

The Northern Territory town of Birdum is virtually unheard of, even amongst Territorians. So why does it feature on an unusually high proportion of vintage twentieth century globes?

Territoriana: a series exploring the history of Australia's Northern Territory as told through kitsch, ephemera and the everyday.

EDITION 19: COFFEECAST

Felix Carey and Francesca Panetta

(The Hackney Podcast, London UK, 2010) Extrait de 8'40

Dr Matt Green takes us into the world of the 18th-century Hackney coffee house, a bustling social space but also a hub of news information.

Winner of two Radio Production Awards in 2010 for best of British radio talent. The Hackney Podcast has also been awarded Gold in the General category for the New York Festivals® Radio Program and Promotion Awards.

Elle m'écrivait de Tokyo...

Clément Baudet

(Libération, 2015, France) 4'00

1ER PRIX CARNET SONORE 2015, lauréat du concours Libération Apaj France Culture 2015

Wireless Nights: Overnight Delivery

Laurence Grissell

(BBC Radio 4, 2012, UK)

Extrait de 5'12

Each week on Wireless Nights, pop star Jarvis Cocker prowls the dark, finding stories of the night people. In Overnight Delivery, Cocker boards the red-eye, taking a transatlantic flight of the imagination, and peering down at the human dramas beneath as the world slowly rotates.

Wireless Nights is a Prix Italia winning series. Overnight Delivery won the Best Documentary: Bronze Award in the 2012 Third Coast/Richard H. Driehaus Foundation Competition.

The Friendly Man

Scott Carrier

(This American Life, WBEZ Chicago, 2001 - États-Unis) 16'00

It's another not-so-great period in Scott's life. This time he takes a job inside his profession, as a producer for a national commercial radio program. His boss is a nationally recognized host who Scott refers to only as "The Friendly Man." Again, things don't go so well.
